

1-13-19

0500

Woke up and turned on the heater in the bedroom to let the room warm up some before I got up. Stayed in bed under my alpaca until nearly 0600!

0600

Got up, got dressed and went downstairs. Started a fire then went to get a cup of coffee. I set the coffeepot up the night before so it was already brewed and waiting.

Had my coffee and checked email.

Made some stickers for sorting rock containers later today.

Added a few itmes to my to-do list for today, pay sales taxes and label containers.

0700

Took blueberries out to thaw for my yogurt breakfast, eyed the leftover paints in the refrigerator and resolved to do something with them today before they go bad. Took out the tiny cube tray I have for this purpose and made a grid to identify the colors locations in the tray. Will fill them after breakfast.

Ate yogurt and read the news headlines, clicking on the ones that interested me.

LOST TRACK OF TIME

Poured up sample trays with leftover paint

Brought in more firewood

Put labels on containers for rock sorting

Fed critters

1030

Find the rocks Julianna sent from Washington state.

Found the rocks, crushed some of the ones that looked like it might make green paint. Made a test run on the whole stone and washed the rest of the pigment and separated. Put those in the dehydrator.

Sorted the rocks on the table and counter, put the containers away.

1218

Eat lunch. Salad with salmon. Yum.

1346 lunch break over

Make envelopes for notecards

Make template for each image

1835- finally finished sorting out the layout and printing for crow stationary. Began the listing at Esty.

2016-finished the listing, made some letters to send as samples of the stationary, ate some yogurt, writing a letter to rob now.

2045- getting ready to go to bed now